Prices are F.O.B. mill, excluding freight

Another rough week for mills as commodity wood prices continue to flounder in the midst of obvious oversupply. Even Hurricane Michael failed to give the market any kind of an emotional boost.

The duration of the current bear market has some producers concerned about the long term state of the industry, but it was only a few short months ago that mills were in a state of euphoria over high prices/returns. Markets go up and markets go down - it's never as good or as bad as you might think. Levels now are investment levels - this sluggish trend will not last forever.
