A slow start to the trading week had many speculating that perhaps we were going into Thanksgiving holiday-mode early this year, but a string of lumber and stud mill curtailment announcements brought the market to life by mid-week. 2x6 dimension was the strongest in most species, and 2x4-9 ft trims led the way in studs. Panel markets saw limited action and did not enjoy upward activity. Look for a quieter tone ahead as we enter Thanksgiving week in earnest. Be safe and enjoy your turkey!
