Jobsite activity remained solid this week throughout most of the country. Housing starts came out showing continued weakness in single-family, with multifamily healthy and in the driver's seat. Commodity markets continue to soften approaching the Christmas holiday. Most lumber items are readily available, though finding trucks will get more difficult through the end of the year. OSB mills have pushed order files out, but secondaries continue to show prompt availability. Here's to hoping everyone has a safe and joyous holiday season with friends and family!
