Little change from last week in the lumber market. DF and Spruce continue to grind up with 2x6 and 2x12 leading the charge. OSB has continued to maintain momentum driven by the lack of inventory available. Plywood levels stayed flat. Distribution centers continue to hold lean inventory as the year winds down. Seasonal curtailments and maintenance at the mills have made supply harder to come by. Buyers stepping in to cover immediate needs remains the common strategy. The one exception was SYP, as levels peeled back over the past week. Many traders made the trip to Phoenix, AZ to attend the NAWLA convention, and as expected activity slowed to end the week.
